On 3 November 1952, only individual soldiers were seen between the barracks observed on 6 November. Twenty to 30 troops were digging holes. From 12 to 22 November, the board fence was being reconditioned. The fence had a height of 2.5 meters, thus preventing observation. On 15 November, 20 reports of 6 to 8 shots each were heard from the east section of the installation.
